ATLANTA DIVISION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

v.

DENESSERIA SLATON A/K/A
DENESSERTIE SLATON

Criminal Information

No. 1:21-CR-179

THE UNITED STATES ATTORNEY CHARGES THAT:

Background

At all times relevant to this Information:

The Defendant and her Co-Conspirators

1. DENESSERIA SLATON A/K/A DENESSERTIE SLATON ("SLATON") was an individual residing in the state of Georgia.
2. Darrell Thomas was an individual residing in the state of Georgia who claimed ownership, and is the Chief Financial Officer, of Bellator Phront Group Inc., a Georgia corporation. As of May 21, 2020, Thomas claimed to be the Chief Executive Officer, Secretary, and registered agent of Elite Executive Services Inc., a Georgia corporation.
3. Bern Benoit a/k/a Burn Benoit was an individual residing in the state of California who claimed sole ownership of Transportation Management Services Inc., a Minnesota corporation.

The Small Business Administration

4. The United States Small Business Administration (“SBA”) was an executive branch agency of the United States government that provided support to entrepreneurs and small businesses. The mission of the SBA was to maintain and strengthen the nation’s economy by enabling the establishment and viability of small businesses and by assisting in the economic recovery of communities after disasters.

5. As part of this effort, the SBA enabled and provided for loans through banks, credit unions, and other lenders. These loans had government-backed guarantees.

The Paycheck Protection Program

6. The Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (“CARES”) Act was a federal law enacted in or about March 2020 and was designed to provide emergency financial assistance to the millions of Americans who are suffering the economic effects caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

7. One source of relief that the CARES Act provided for was the authorization of up to $349 billion in forgivable loans to small businesses for payroll, mortgage interest, rent/lease, and utilities, through a program referred to as the Paycheck Protection Program (“PPP”). Congress subsequently authorized additional PPP funding.

8. The PPP allowed qualifying small businesses and other organizations to receive PPP loans. Businesses were required to use PPP loan proceeds for payroll costs, interest on mortgages, rent, and utilities. The PPP allowed the interest and principal on the PPP loan to be entirely forgiven if the business spent the loan proceeds on these expense items within a designated period of time and used a certain percentage of the PPP loan proceeds for payroll expenses.

9. The amount of a PPP loan that a small business may have been entitled to receive was determined by the number of employees employed by the business and the business's average monthly payroll costs.

10. In order to obtain a PPP loan, a qualifying business was required to submit a PPP loan application, which was signed by an authorized representative of the business. The PPP loan application required the business (through its authorized representative) to acknowledge the program rules and make certain affirmative certifications in order to be eligible to obtain the PPP loan. In the PPP loan application, the small business (through its authorized representative) had to state, among other things, its (a) average monthly payroll expenses and (b) number of employees. These figures were used to calculate the amount of money the small business was eligible to receive under the PPP. In addition, businesses applying for a PPP loan had to provide documentation showing their payroll expenses.

11. The SBA oversaw the PPP. However, individual PPP loans were issued by private, approved lenders who received and processed PPP applications and supporting documentation, and then made loans using the lenders' own funds, which were 100% guaranteed by the SBA. Data from the application, including information about the borrower, the total amount of the loan, and the listed number of employees, was transmitted by the lender to the SBA in the course of processing the loan.

12. Financial Institution 1 was an FDIC-insured bank headquartered in Fort Lee, New Jersey. Financial Institution 1 participated in the SBA's PPP as a lender, and as such, was authorized to lend funds to eligible borrowers under the terms of the PPP.
