

Alfred Chu has more than ten years of experience preparing and prosecuting patent applications. With an electrical engineering degree, he understands both the technology of intellectual property as well as the legal side required to protect clients' rights. Alfred has been responsible for numerous filings in a variety of post grant proceedings including Inter Parties Reviews.

Alfred has significant experience in the fields of broadband technology, telecommunication systems, medical devices, computer hardware/software, signal processing, computer networks and virtual machines, imaging technology, e-commerce, and virtual reality systems and devices.

Drawing on his experience as a former intellectual property attorney with Hahn Loeser & Parks LLP in Cleveland and Martin & Ferraro LLP in Los Angeles, Alfred effectively counsels individuals and businesses of all sizes on a wide range of patent, trademark, and copyright issues.
